

Murmurs at the Intensive Care Unit

- He was in the coffee shop when he fainted.
- No, he's never had a heart attack before.
- He has a life he has to return to.
- He can't just leave like that without a word.
- He loves photography and the smell of coffee.
- What does it mean when the machine beeps?
- Did you see the last picture he sent?
- He's afraid of shots.
- He was planning a trip to Michigan.
- He's breathing through the machine.
- There's hope if his eyes would only open.
- But he responded to her voice, and he moved his hand a little.
- His voicemail is full of messages.